Whole universes have torus-shaped energy flow. A torus is a dynamic flow process, rather than simply a topological surface. In the Tao Te Ching, chapter 11, Lao Tzu said: "Thirty spokes share a wheel's hub, yet it is the center empty space in the hub that makes it function." A wheel also has disks with a center hole, which is torus shaped.

It is my understanding that the torus that minimizes the Willmore energy is not yet known (this from a sentence in a 2005 paper by John Sullivan). Willmore conjectured that the Willmore energy for any smooth, immersed torus is  $\geq 2\pi^2$ . From what I can gather, this energy is achieved by a standard rotationally round torus, derived from the Clifford torus.
