

What is the Swiss battery technology center?

At the Swiss Battery Technology Center, we research the sustainability of electrification, operate Switzerland's largest battery test laboratory with Bern University of Applied Sciences BFH, and show how batteries can be taken apart and materials reused. We are committed to a high recycling rate of the entire battery.

Why is Switzerland taking part in battery 2030?

Switzerland is taking part in the European research initiative Battery 2030, which aims to improve the longevity and energy density of conventional lithium-ion batteries so that fewer rare metals are used. Stationary systems that can stockpile renewable energy are also set for massive expansion in the coming decades.

Will Switzerland become Europe's 'electricity battery'?

As the Alpine glaciers slowly melt away, Switzerland will have the opportunity to build new dams and artificial lakes in the mountains. This will increase energy storage capacity in the Alps, strengthening Switzerland's role as Europe's "electricity battery".

Is Switzerland able to store energy?

The global challenge is not only to produce more energy from renewable sources, but also to be able to store it. With its hydroelectric power plants in the Alps and innovative projects, Switzerland is contributing to the search for solutions for the efficient, long-term storage of electricity.

What is the Swiss Innovation Park Biel/Bienne (sipbb)?

The Switzerland Innovation Park Biel/Bienne (SIPBB) supports start-ups in the development of marketable products. The Swiss Battery Technology Center brings a unique mix of experts from research and development. CSEM is a Swiss research and technology organization (RTO) with +35 years of technology development and transfer to industry.

How does Switzerland contribute to the future of electricity storage?

With its hydroelectric power plants in the Alps and innovative projects, Switzerland is contributing to the search for solutions for the efficient, long-term storage of electricity. A journalist from Ticino resident in Bern, I write on scientific and social issues with reports, articles, interviews and analysis.

Switzerland Innovation Park Biel/Bienne is a Swiss private non-profit organization that conducts and supports industry-related and primarily applied research and development. As part of the national and international network of the Switzerland Innovation Foundation, it aims to generate research investment from abroad, promote Swiss
