

What insurance should I buy when installing photovoltaic panels

Does homeowners insurance cover solar panels?

Usually, homeowner's solar insurance packages cover all types of solar panels: monocrystalline, polycrystalline PV, or thin film solar panels. The insurance protects your solar rooftop against common risks, such as fire, hail, lightning, storm damage, or theft. The claim limit for solar panel coverage varies depending on the policy.

Do I need insurance if I install solar panels?

Yes, you should always let your insurance provider know about any significant changes you make to your home - including fitting solar panels - to ensure you're sufficiently covered. As well as improving your home's market value, installing solar panels is likely to increase your home's rebuild value.

How much does solar panel home insurance cost?

The annual cost of solar panel home insurance ranges from £118 to £152, which seems reasonable compared to the potential risks. Once you decide to install solar panels, inform your home insurer. Solar panels contribute to rebuilding your home's value, so it's important to list them in the insurance coverage.

What insurance options are available for solar panels?

Specialised insurance options also exist for the installation phase, protecting against financial losses due to accidents or damage during installation. These options include Public Liability Insurance, Personal Accident Insurance, and more. Solar panel insurance comes in various forms, tailored to different needs and installations:

Should I tell my home insurance provider if I have solar panels?

At Sunsaver, we strongly recommend that you tell your home insurance provider once you have solar panels, just like you would after any other significant modification to your property. It may increase how much you pay for insurance, as solar panels can raise the value of your home.

Are solar panels included in buildings insurance?

Most providers include solar panels in buildings insurance, treating them as part of the fabric of your home, just like the doors, floors, and walls. However, these policies can be insufficiently comprehensive, unless you pay extra. This means you can often attain a better level of cover if you get solar panel insurance separately.
